

south san francisco conference center

OCTOBER.26.2011

GATEWAY CALIFORNIA

think big. act strategically. pursue bold projects.

TODD ACKER has been in the transportation industry for 28 years starting with a national LTL carrier in 1983. In 14 years he transferred from Denver to Chicago to Oakland back to Denver and finally back again to Chicago. After joining FedEx in 1999, he moved to San Jose and he has been working extensively in the International Market for the last 12 years. Acker is currently the Regional Manager for International Sales responsible for Northern California and the state of Hawaii. He also manages the International Route Development for FedEx's U.S./Japan lane and he is the lead for FedEx's Wine Export Program. He frequently travels on business to Asia focusing on Hong Kong, China, and Japan. Acker is a graduate of Northern Colorado University with a degree in Business Administration.